The Kingdom of Hungary forced all nobles (including those in Transylvania) to adhere to the Roman Catholic Church, an act which could have determined the ethnic Romanian potentates to seek out new lands.

LICEUL
RADU NEGRU

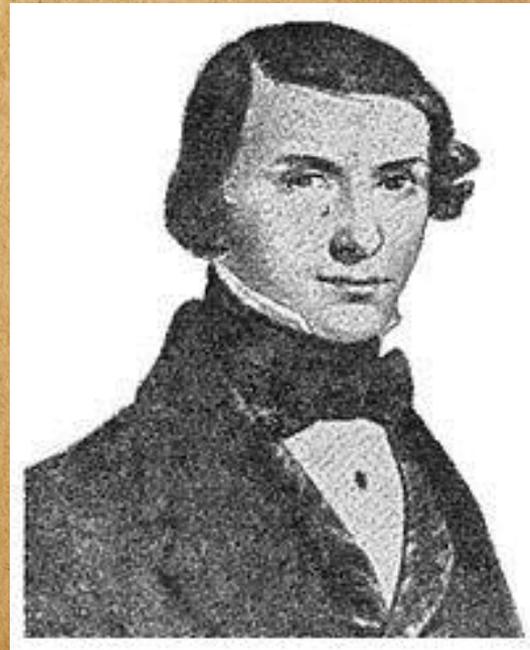

'Radu Negru'
High School is the oldest secondary education institution in the Făgăraș County.

It was founded on the 13th of September
1869 by courtesy of the

The high school started its activity again in 1898 after the authorities had approved of the setting up of a high school of boys in Fagaras, called 'Radu Negru'.

This happened at the same time with the establishment of the first grade classes. In the autumn of 1902 the 5th grade was set up.

Starting with 1919-1920 school year, the classes were carried on in Romanian, functioning with the 1-8 high school grades (the equivalent of today 5-12 grades).

Along the years the school has kept its excellent reputation inspired by its founder, Ion Codru Draguseanu.
